Prophetic over Minnesota
By Jacquie Tyre

Minnesota, Minnesota, Minnesota, I have called you to rise and soar, coming up out of a time of being stuck in the religious paradigms of the past, frozen in time, yet holding great embers of fire within you that I am stirring and shaking to burst into flames. For in days gone by you have seen glimpses of revival, glimpses of awakening, and glimpses of great hope, but I say to you today, you haven't seen anything yet compared to what I have prepared for you in the days ahead.

I have seen and I have heard the cries of My people, many even soaking the carpets with their cries for revival and reformation to come to their land. I have seen and I have heard, and I shall answer in mighty displays of power and might. Watch and see the fires of awakening arising out of Minnesota and a great move of My Spirit shall commence that will sweep the land.
