

Prophetic Word: I'm Igniting Revival

By Pat McManus

Prepare for movement, for I'm igniting revival in your midst. I'm going to cause a greater expression of My glory to be seen. For even that which you've pressed forward in and pressed forward to I'm about ready to explode within you. For I hear the Lord say, that I'm causing a fire to begin to be ignited in an intense way that will burn what needs to be burned, but will empower what needs to be empowered. So get ready for I am about ready to explode on your land. I'll cause a greater reformation of my grace and power and glory. For I'm releasing the sound of revival. I'm releasing the sound of awakening. I'm releasing the sound of a clear expression of My ways. For I will shake even structures and systems that have been held captive. I'm going to shake systems and structures of government that truly will not bow. I'm shaking systems and structures of education systems that will not yield to Me. I'm breaking systems and structures that will truly not yield to the purpose of My way. For I will cause a revolution to be released upon the land, and even that which has been established from the old. For I will cause a fire to ignite within and an acceleration of My glory to manifest within. So get ready for the movement of My hand, movement of My power, movement of My grace in this hour. For I will cause a stirring and a shifting and a revelation to be birthed within. For I'm strategizing within your heart the sound of awakening and the sound of reformation. So get ready for the breakthrough moments that I'm releasing within.
