Prophetic over Vermont

By Regina Shank

Even as the trees overshadow the landscape, I will overshadow you, Vermont. There is a hovering, a covering My protection over you. Your watchmen have taken their places and exposed many of the plans of the enemy, but I will overshadow you, says the Lord. And even as Psalms 91 says: "He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High, will rest in that shadow." And I heard the Lord speak about the overshadowing. An overshadowing is to envelope in a brilliancy, to cause the release of great light into the world. It is excellence, mental ability and splendor. And the overshadowing of Vermont has come. And I have this against you for you have chosen to destroy My deliverers in the womb. Their blood cries out for justice. I will sweep through your Baal structures and remove them stone by stone. Although I have been the stone the builders have rejected, I will set up my structures of worship. My structures of prayer in the hearts of My people. The battle has begun, and will continue and increase in intensity. I will release My power in Vermont. I will start with the unknown prayer warriors, and make them known by the demonstration of My glory. As I overturn the tables of the moneychangers in My temple of worship, I will remove the death structures in Vermont. There is a groaning, a mournful cry of Rachel crying for her children. That cry will come forth in Vermont and will increase.

Prophetic over Vermont

By Jacquie Tyre

I heard the Lord say, the season of tapping the trees is at hand. Not the Maple trees for syrup, but the Oak trees of those who have been planted by streams of living water. Obviously, a reference to Psalm 1, verse 3. And He says, for I have a company of men and women. Faithful ones who have been steadfast in their walk before Me. These, as faithful as you have been, you have yet to be tapped for the flow of My sap to flow through you to bring delight to many. My sap is strong, and it is sweet. It is rich and it is thick. As My tapping begins and persists with the pressure required to breakthrough to the flow of sap, do not shrink back, or retreat from My process. For My process, as painful as it may be in moments, it shall be a blessing to you, Vermont, and you shall be a blessing to the northeast as My sap flows rich and free.
