

October of 2018 at a meeting in OK, Chuck admonished leaders to return to the trails in their states and follow them in prayer, opening up what has been closed or blocked and clearing the way for the new. Dwayne and Paula Hardwick and their family are doing that for business trails in AR by traversing the Southwest Trail in prayer.

The Southwest Trail refers to a network of trade routes connecting the mid-Mississippi River Valley around St. Louis MO to the Red River valley in NE Texas. These trails were first used for trade by the ancient people of our land.

The Hardwicks' efforts matter since the business trails of Arkansas must be cleansed of the shedding of innocent blood, broken vows, moved boundaries, and all other spiritual obstacles that impede our prosperity. It's time for AR to move into our destiny of abundance. The Hardwick's are serving the state with humility and joy in preparing the way. For more on this listen to the conference call from June.
