

United States of America Golden Age Declaration

By Clay Nash

We declare that the great Nation of the United States has entered into the preeminent days of its existence, days of God's fathomless blessing, walking in His providence and opposing darkness through His unquenchable light.

We declare that the United States is shifting into a new and golden age, during which God's friendship will grace every home.

May the Mighty One who stands at her side be known by all and may the children of America be abundantly blessed.

Oh Lord, let Your will be done, for nothing is too great for You. We trust in your wisdom.

May your righteousness be known among the people, from Seattle to Key West, and from Maine to Baha. In Hawaii and Alaska.

May young and old alike honor the righteous, and may Your presence be welcomed and revered by all.

When our righteous leaders speak, may the people of America cherish every word that comes forth from God.

We declare that the United States shall be held in high regard, leading the World in paths of righteousness.

The United States shall be known for charity, caring for the least to the greatest, aiding the poor and encouraging the prosperous in generosity.

The elderly of this Nation shall live in peace, their souls deep-rooted and refreshed, grateful for fulfilled lives, remaining resilient and robust until the day they are released into God's glorious presence.

The bereaved shall receive encouragement though God's touch during their sojourn here.

America's dealings with others shall be open, upright, and loving.

America shall stand for justice, fairness and mercy.

The United States shall be eyes to the blind and legs to the lame, a father to the fatherless, and a champion for the abused and downcast.

The thief shall steal no more. Arrested by righteousness and converted by mercy, he shall return what he has taken.

As righteousness is declared, the unrighteous shall acquiesce, drinking godly counsel like spring rain and growing in the ways of the Creator of the Universe.

We declare that God is smiling over the United States.

Where darkness is found, the people shall rise with the glory of God shining through their faces. Trouble will flee on wings of light.

May God lead the righteous leaders of the United States. May she be proven by His truth. May all who dwell under her benevolence rejoice in the loving kindness of God.

God bless your Land of Liberty and reward the Brave. Lord, grant Your favor, and glorify Your holy name.
